BIOGRAPHY:

Lucy Neale was born in Cleveland, Ohio.

She studied at these schools:

- Shaker Heights High School(High School Diploma)

- Connecticut College (BA in English Literature)
- Harvard University (Psychology of Religion)
- Connecticut Wesleyan (Electronic Music, N. American Indian Vocal Music)
- University of California San Diego Extension (Import/Export Business)
- San Diego State (Creative Writing).

With her musical background and talent she became a cast member of the musical "HAIR" with the Swiss Theater Company and toured Europe in the early seventies. She then joined a group called "FAMILY TREE" from 1973 until 1975, when she was a part of this eleven person group. In 1974 Donna Summer joined "FAMILY TREE" as a member. Their music was a mix of soul, folk and jazz.

Lucy Neale sang on the first Silver Convention album and did the talking intro on Penny McLean's single "Lady Bump." In 1974, the vocalists on the first "SILVER CONVENTION" album "Save Me" were Gitta Walther (artist name: Jackie Robinson.) Roberta Kelly ("Troublemaker," "Zodiac Lady," & "Gettin' the Spirit,") Betsy Allen, Lucy Neale , and Jackie Carter.

Lucy recorded a single released in Germany as a solo artist with the name "LUCY O'DAY" in 1974. After she left "FAMILY TREE," she formed a rock-jazz group in Munich with another "FAMILY TREE" member, Mel "Candy" Canady, called "RUBY AND THE MUDFLAPS" with eleven people on stage also. She was the only female vocalist in the group and was a singer/songwriter with the group.

Concurrently, she was a member of a pop-jazz group called "RED POINT ORCHESTRA" with Donna Summer, Mel "Candy" Canady, and Peter Bischof as singers, accompanied by six musicians. Lucy also wrote lyrics and sang on an album by a group called "CERUBIN" in 1975. Throughout her career Lucy Neale kept on writing songs.

During the peak of the disco era Lucy was sought after as a backing vocalist, often together with "LOVE GENERATION" member Gitta Walther. Together they sang back up vocals for Donna Summer ("Love To Love You Baby.") In 1975 Lucy joined the German group "LOVE GENERATION" and stayed in the group until 1978. "LOVE GENERATION" recorded in German and in English, and the group entered the German pre-selection for the Eurovision Song Contest in 1975 and 1976. Their music style was a mix of easy listening and pop music.

Together with "LOVE GENERATION" member Gitta Walther, Lucy formed a four-woman vocal harmony group called "THE HORNETTES" in 1980. They quickly invited Christina Harrison, and about a year later, added Linda G. Thompson as a replacement for Dagmar Hellberg. "THE HORNETTES" entered the Eurovision Song Contest twice; they entered for Germany in 1981 and for Austria in 1983.

In 1985, at age 37, Lucy left Germany and "THE HORNETTES" and returned to the United States. She settled in San Diego, California where she now has a successful career selling California Real Estate; her website is <http://www.lucyimhome.com>

Singing still runs through her blood, and she formed a new female group called "MOXIE" together with her friends. In 2003 they released a compact disc.
